The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claims 4 and 7, and, 5 and 6 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite in that it fails to point out what is included or excluded by the claim language. The respective claims are unnecessarily prolix. Claims 4 and 7, and, 5 and 6, respectively are essential duplicates.

Cancellation of one of the duplicate sets of claims will overcome this rejection.

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent, or on an international application by another who has fulfilled the requirements of paragraphs (1), (2), and (4) of section 371(c) of this title before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent.

The changes made to 35 U.S.C. 102(e) by the American Inventors Protection Act of 1999 (AIPA) and the Intellectual Property and High Technology Technical Amendments Act of 2002 do not apply when the reference is a U.S. patent resulting directly or indirectly from an international application filed before November 29, 2000. Therefore, the prior art date of the reference is determined under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) prior to the amendment by the AIPA (pre-AIPA 35 U.S.C. 102(e)).

Claims 4 and 7 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Daikai et al US 6,201,123. See, for example, column 3 lines 25-62.

The applied reference has a common inventor with the instant application. Based upon the earlier effective U.S. filing date of the reference, it constitutes prior art under 35 U.S.C. 102(e). This rejection under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) might be overcome either by a showing under 37 CFR 1.132 that any invention disclosed but not claimed in the reference was derived from the inventor of this application and is thus not the invention "by another," or by an appropriate showing under 37 CFR 1.131.

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 4-7 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Daikai et al US 6,201,123 applied as a reference under 102(e).

Determination of the scope and content of the prior art (MPEP §2141.01)

Daikai et al US 6,201,123 teach a process of preparing optically active epoxide of the same type claimed using a enone of the same type claimed in the same manner as recited in the claims. See, for example, column 3 lines 25-62, column 4 lines 1+ and column 1 lines 20-53. It is particularly noted that claims 4 and 7 recite using only a catalyst per se.

Ascertainment of the difference between the prior art and the claims (MPEP §2141.02)

Patentees differ, particularly with respect to claims 5 and 6, in that cumene hydroperoxide or tert-butyl hydroperoxide are not specifically taught as alternative additive components.

Finding of prima facie obviousness--rational and motivation (MPEP §2142-2413)

However, the reference does teach that cumene hydroperoxide, in particular, is a known additive component. See column 1 lines 48-51. Moreover, the reference also teaches using this component gives higher optical purities and yields. In light of the foregoing it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to modify the teachings of Daikai et al, as the results would not have been unexpected.

No claim is allowed.
